Recommendation for Mr. Greg Simmons

My experience in working with Mr. Simmons was very positive.

He was very knowledgeable about the property and building/construction terms, technologies, timelines and product availability in the market, and was very helpful. Greg took the time to show me the research on green building and related materials after business hours on short notice. This made my life so much easier, as my schedule did not allow for any other time to be dedicated toward doing the research myself.

Mr. Simmons is very easy to work with, and I felt very comfortable throughout the entire process. He was on the top on quotes and other processes required for building from ground up.

Other builders I had dealt with always seem like they are trying to sell you on an average property, or cover up any imperfections. Greg showed us the building plans and material exactly like it was, and pointed out every little detail, good or bad. He was also very open to my questions and responded with honest answers.

I have gotten the run-a-round many times with other builders, but with Greg, I knew I could trust him. I have been more than happy with my and my experience in dealing with Greg. I would highly recommend using Mr. Simmons when looking into residential/commercial construction. Thank you Greg.
